

ADMISSION DECISIONS

Students who are academically prepared may be admitted to Colorado Mesa University or CMU Tech, according to the student's degree intent. Admission to the university, however, does not guarantee acceptance of a student into a specific course or academic program (i.e., admission to the university does not imply entry into any program which has selective admission standards). Some students may be required to enroll in special courses for correction of academic or other deficiencies before further consideration is given. Students may be asked to provide ACT/SAT scores or take an ALEKS test to assist with placement in coursework. To enroll in the ALEKS testing program, students may contact the Testing Center at testing@coloradomesa.edu.
