Program Description

Colorado Mesa University offers a variety of study abroad opportunities including exchanges with foreign university partners, through faculty-led experiences, and to over 150 programs in over 50 countries around the world through our partnership with the International Student Exchange Program (ISEP). ISEP's reciprocal exchange program allows CMU students to pay CMU tuition/fees and room/board during their semester or academic year abroad. Direct enrollment options are also available, as well as internships in a student's field of study. ISEP students are fully immersed in an intercultural experience at their host institution and are able to explore the global opportunities of their chosen academic field. Visit the CMU Study Abroad webpage for additional information including eligibility and application instructions.
